

ANIMAL WELFARE POLICY

All living creatures reared for food deserve to be treated with respect and consideration.

Forrester (Sales) Ltd. Therefore recognises and upholds a set of values that are fundamental requirements for bird welfare.

Commercial considerations as a food company must always be balanced with these values.

During the life of birds, Forrester's expects suppliers to ensure that the birds are:

1. Free from hunger and thirst
2. Free from discomfort
3. Free from pain, injury and disease
4. Free from fear and distress
5. Free to express normal behaviour

Suppliers are responsible for the welfare of the birds and anyone handling live birds must have the knowledge and skill necessary to perform their tasks humanly and efficiently and will be trained appropriately.

Heidi Nickson
Director
April 2017 Issue No. 3
Reviewed March 2021